12 "The Daily Telegraph and Morning Post", London, England
13 issue of February 13, 1950 carried an article under the caption
14 "Professor Einstein on H-Bomb Danger to Civilization" stated -
15 that on the first of a series of television programs being 16 conducted by Mrs. Roosevelt, Professor Einstein on that day
17 gave a warning that the Hydrogen bomb might destroy civiliza-
18 tion. The article stated that Einstein condemned the 19 "hysterical character" which the armament race between the 20 United States and Russia had assumed. The situation, he said,
21 demanded the renunciation of violence and the setting up of 22 a supra-national body.

23
24 According to Einstein, on both sides means of mass
25 destruction were perfected with feverish haste behind walls of 26 secrecy.

27
28 "The H-bomb appears on the public horizon as a probable 29 attainable goal. If successful, radio-active poisoning of the 30 atmosphere and, hence, annihilation of any life on earth, has 31 been brought within the range of technical possibilities.

32
33 "The ghost-like character of this development lies in 34 its apparently compulsory trend. Every step appears as an 35 unavoidable consequence of the preceding one. In the end there
36 beckons more and more clearly general annihilation". Professor 37 Einstein contended that the idea of achieving security through 38 national armament was in the present state a military technique,
39 a disastrous illusion. The illusion was fostered by the fact
40 that America succeeded first in producing the atomic bomb.

42 "This mechanistic technical-military psychological
43 attitude had inevitable consequences. Every single act in foreign 44 policy is governed exclusively by one view." Such a policy, 45 Professor Einstein said, led to: "the establishment of military
46 bases at all important points on the globe; the militarization
47 of youth; close supervision of the loyalty of citizens and in 48 particular of civil servants by a police force growing more
49 conspicuous every day; the intimidation of people of independent
50 political thinking; the indoctrination of the public by radio,
51 press and school; and the growing restriction of the range of 52 public information under the pressure of military secrecy.

54 "Is there any way out of this impasse? All of us, and 55 particularly those who are responsible for the attitude of the 56 United States and Russia should realize that we may have vanquished
57 an external enemy but have been incapable of getting rid of the 58 mentality created by war.

"It is impossible to achieve peace as long as every single action is taken with a possible future conflict in view. The leading point of view of all political actions should therefore be: what can we do to bring about the peaceful co-existence and even loyal cooperation as a nation?"

"The first problem is to do away with mutual fear and distrust. A solemn renunciation of violence is undoubtedly necessary. Such renunciation, however, can only be effective if at the same time a super-natural judicial and executive body is set up, empowered to decide questions of immediate concern to the security of nations.

"Even the declaration of nations to collaborate loyally and the realization of such a restricted world government would considerably reduce the imminent danger of war."

"The New York World Telegram" of February 14, 1950 carried an article entitled "Innocents in Politics". This article stated in part that Dr. Albert Einstein's views were entitled to respect, when he warned that use of the hydrogen bomb might so poison the atmosphere that all life on earth would be annihilated, since he was an eminent scientist qualified by training and background to speculate upon the potentialities of such a force; but that the Doctor left his own field when he began to discuss political remedies; in that field he had established a reputation for extreme naivete; he had permitted use of his name in connection with so much Communist-front propaganda that his views on "how to get along with Russia" must be taken with plenty of salt.

This article stated further that if the hydrogen bomb was as dangerous as Dr. Einstein feared he could rest assured that America would never be first to loose such a dread weapon upon the world; but if scientists placed, or had placed that instrument of destruction in Russian hands civilization would have no such guarantees.

The Chicago American of February 14, 1950, carried an article entitled "A-Spies Shielded by US Laxity". This article stated in part that in 1942 Fuchs, the British spy, was in an alien detention camp in Canada and according to his father "was released to work on atomic problems on the recommendation of Professor Albert Einstein."

This article stated further that Einstein, called the "Father of the Atomic Power Theory", for years had been associated with many Communist Front groups and on the previous week had signed a petition protesting contempt sentences of lawyers in the red conspiracy trial.

In a Department of Navy report, dated February 14, 1950, appeared an article entitled "Hell Bomb Or Peace Parley." The article reported that "the Communist propaganda apparatus is once again plugging 'fear' in an attempt to subvert the military preparedness of the United States. Scientists, religious leaders, educators and members of the Arts and Professions have drawn together in a full scale agitation program whose Communist direction is readily apparent." Albert Einstein was among those named who had supported this campaign of agitation through various organizations.

The "Daily Herald" London, England on February 21, 1950 carried an article entitled "We May Follow Dodo". This article stated in part that twelve university professors had signed a manifesto appealing to people to cast party politics aside and vote for candidates giving unqualified support to Royal Government; further that they include Professor Lancelot Hogben who had just resigned as President of the University Labor Society to support any candidate in favor of Royal Government.

This article stated further that speaking on the previous night in support of Mr. Henry Osborne, Labor Candidate for the Yardley Division of the Birmingham, Professor Hogben read a letter from Professor Einstein welcoming the news that Mr. Osborne would be putting the case for World Government before the British public in the Election.

On February 27, 1950 an article appeared in the "Daily Worker" under the caption "26 United States Leaders Flay Militarism in Schools" which stated that 26 prominent Americans asserted that ~~the~~ militarism had invaded the nations schools and colleges to an alarming degree. They called for an immediate about-face. According to the article the 26 Americans included such men as author Louis Bromfield, Scientist Albert Einstein, Methodist Bishop Gerald Kennedy and President James G. Patton of the National Farmers Union.

The article stated that their 80 page report accused the Defense Department of an "ominous effort" to spread militarism philosophy among the country's youth."

According to the article it was a third in a series of reports sponsored by the National Council Against Conscription on Militarism in America.

According to the article, they said that the Department was making " systematic and well-financed efforts - - - to penetrate and influence civilian educational life of America"... Its goal, they said, was to influence friends for the military and get across the idea that preparedness for war was the best road to peace.

The report further stated, according to the article, that the desperate need of the world for peace required a type of leadership which could be attained only through the spirit of free inquiry unhampered by narrow military considerations.

The New York Office forwarded to the Bureau by memorandum dated May 21, 1951, the original material which was forwarded to that Office by Bureau letter dated February 27, 1951. The translation of this material was also enclosed with memorandum of May 21, 1951.

Included with the above-referenced material was a copy of the March, 1950, issue of "Vestmesis", and the translation. On page 8 of the translation of the March, 1950, issue of "Vestmesis" an article entitled "The Hydrogen Bomb Means the End of Civilization" appeared. The following is the quoted article as it appeared: "New York. The famous scientist, Professor Albert Einstein, spoke on a television broadcast. The American Radio Association had invited him to give his views on the hydrogen super atom bomb. 'As long as the world will arm, there will be no peace', Professor Einstein said. 'Our civilization can be saved only by control over atomic weapons. The hydrogen super atom bomb means the destruction of the whole civilization.' Professor Einstein emphasized that erroneous illusions about the war of the future exists in present day society. According to him, humanity will not survive it. Use of the new weapons will bring an end to everything."

The "Daily Telegraph and Morning Post", London, England, of March 18, 1950, carried an article entitled "Check on Canada Scientists Urged". This article stated in part that Mr. G. Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, asked the Canadian Government in the House of Commons on the previous night to investigate a report in the weekly newspaper "Ensign" that Dr. Infeld, Polish born professor of mathematics at Toronto University, planned to return to Poland.

This article stated further that Dr. Infeld, a friend and co-worker of Dr. Einstein and Canadian citizen for ten years, on that date denounced as "false statements and innuendoes" Mr. Drew's allegations; he declared that he had never had anything to do with atomic research; he declined to comment on reports that he had applied to the University's Board of Governors for leave for another visit to Poland.

This article stated that "Dr. Albert Einstein has again warned the American people that reliance on armaments for national security is a 'disastrous illusion'". The "Southern Patriot" of March, 1950, Volume 8, No. 3, page 1, announced that the "Southern Conference Educational Fund, Incorporated" at New Orleans, Louisiana, was serving as coordinator for a south-wide conference on discrimination on higher education which would be held in Atlanta University, Atlanta, Georgia, on April 8, 1950. It was to be held under the sponsorship of a group of 200 professors and administrators from more than 100 colleges and universities in sixteen southern states and the District of Columbia.

In the same issue of the "Southern Patriot" pages 2 and 3, a partial list of sponsors was announced. The "Patriot" carefully pointed out that the institutions and organizations appearing behind the names of the sponsors were for identification purposes only. Under the New Jersey sponsors appeared the name of Albert Einstein, Institute of Advanced Studies, Princeton University, Princeton, New Jersey.

12 On June 4, 1950 the Washington Star carried an article
13 by Michel Amrine under the caption "US May Ease Atomic Secrecy
14 Based On What Soviet Knows". The article stated that a major
15 change in atomic secrecy policy was in the making as a result
16 of a conference between officials of the Atomic Energy Commission
17 and their congressional "Watchdog", the Joint Committee On Atomic 18 Energy.

20 The article stated that it would be an unlocking of 21 secret information to compare with the original release of the 22 Smyth Report by the War Department which amounted to a technical 23 history of the bomb project, or the "break" of Senator Johnsons,
24 of Colorado, on the famed television broadcast which described
25 the possibilities of the hydrogen bomb.

26
27 The article further stated that the step would be
28 announced only after further checking of Congressional reaction
29 and a survey among scientists and engineers who could best
30 judge whether the information would be of value to potential
31 enemies.

32
33 Explanation for this apparent reversal of the national 34 policy, according to the article, was that much information now
35 officially and legally classified "secret" was secret in name
36 only and was known abroad at least to the Russians.

37
38 A note appeared in this article which stated that 39 the writer was former editor for the Federation of American 40 Scientists and that he had prepared numerous articles in 41 collaboration with such scientists as Dr. Albert Einstein and 42 Dr. Harold C. Urey.

12 The June 12, 1940 issue of "The New York Compass" carried
13 an article under the caption "US Arms Stand Hit As Fraud." The article
14 stated that 16 scientists, educators and clergyman accused the United 15 States that day of paying lip service to disarmament while actually 16 discouraging such a step.

18 The article stated that in a report signed by a group of 19 scientists including Albert Einstein, Novelist Louis Bromfield, and 20 others, the group said:

22 "Officially appointed representatives to the UN tell the 23 world that the US wants disarmament and only Russia stands in the way.
24 Yet other American officials do what they can to discourage disarmament.

26 "In the United States there are vested economic interests
27 with a stake in a large military budget. There is also an emotional
28 attachment to armaments as well as a high degree of military leader-
29 ship and influence in policy - making branches of the government."

30
31 The group which issued its report through the National 32 Council Against Conscription, according to the article, urged immediate 33 steps toward total world disarmament, saying that none of the great
34 powers had ever really made a move in this direction.

The New York Office forwarded to the Bureau by memorandum dated June 12, 1950, a clipping from page 211 of the book "Men without Faces" by Louis Francis Budenz. This clipping carried the title "Capture of the Innocents."

The following is <sup>the</sup> quoted clipping: "Albert Einstein, neither of whom are Communists. Mann is the noted novelist who has long been a warm defender of Moscow. His name can be found on many Communist fronts, including the successor to the Young Communist League, the American Youth for Democracy. The world famous Einstein, though occasionally dissenting from Communist views has likewise sponsored a number of Communist-connected groups."

On June 19, 1950 the "New York Compass" carried an article under the caption "Einstein Urges U. S., Russia Yield Bombs" which stated that Albert Einstein in a United Nations radio interview recorded in the study of his home at Princeton, New Jersey and which was broadcast by the Mutual Broadcasting System on June 18, 1950 suggested that the United States and the Soviet Union surrender their stock piles of atomic bombs to an international authority. He also advocated systematic disarmament for all countries and establishment of world government. Einstein did not name the United States and the Soviet Union but those were the only two countries known to have the atomic bomb.

When asked what he would suggest doing with the present supply of the atom bombs already stock piled, he replied:

"Give it into the hands of a super national organization. During the interval period of solid peace one must have protecting power. One-sided disarmament is not possible; this is out of the question. Arms must be intrusted only to an international authority. There is no other possible systematic disarmament connected with super-national government. One must not look too technically on the problem of security. The will to peace and the readiness to accept every step needed for this goal is most important."

According to the article, Einstein said that a remedy for the present tense situation could not be found in preparing for the event of war "but in starting from the conviction that security from military disaster can be realized only by patient negotiation and the creations of a legal bases for the solution of international problems, supported by a sufficiently strong executive agency--in short, a kind of world government."

Einstein was asked whether the current atomic armaments race was leading to another world war or was a way to prevent war.

Einstein answered that "Competitive armament is not a way to prevent war, every step in this direction brings us nearer to catastrophe. The armament race is the worse method to prevent open conflict. On the contrary, real peace cannot be released without systematic disarmament on a super national scale."

The Bureau received a letter dated July 19, 1950 from [redacted] North Hollywood, California in which he stated that on that day he received a quantity of booklets and pamphlets much of which appeared from the titles to be of a very "left" nature. Included in this material was a booklet by Albert Einstein. [redacted] stated that all of the material was selected and ordered from a mimeographed list of the available literature put out by the "Methodist Federation for Social Action".

The October 28, 1950, issue of "Glos Ludowy", page 1, columns 2 and 3, carried an article captioned "Scientist Decides to Remain in Poland to Fight for Peace". This article in part stated that Dr. Leopold Infeld, world famous mathematician and physicist, resigned from his post at the University of Toronto, Toronto, Canada, and accepted the chair in his field at the University of Warsaw, Poland. The article further stated that Dr. Infeld left Poland in 1936 and after his arrival in the United States spent three years working with Albert Einstein at Princeton, New Jersey. During this time he collaborated with Einstein on the book "Evolution of Physics". For the following 12 years he was at the University of Toronto. When Infeld requested a leave of absence for the school year 1950-1951 to lecture in European universities, including those of Poland, a charge was made that he knew atomic bomb secrets and would take them to Poland.

The article further stated that the Polish press in the United States went to extremes to imply that Infeld was an "Atom Bomb Spy", linking his name with Dr. Fuchs of Great Britain who was charged with revealing atomic secrets to the Soviets.

[redacted] in May, 1950, obtained a copy of an official pamphlet which indicated thereon that it was published by the United World Federalists, Incorporated, 7 East 12th Street, New York 3, New York. This pamphlet was entitled "Beliefs, Purposes and Policies Adopted October 29, 1949, by the Third General Assembly of United World Federalists, Incorporated" and set out a list of officers of the organization and the members of its National Advisory Board and National Executive Council. The name of Dr. Albert Einstein appeared as a member of the National Advisory Board.

Noted below are some of the references to Albert Einstein which appeared in the report of the Special Committee on Un-American Activities, House of Representatives, 78th Congress, Second Session, 1944:

Page 1202 - Professor Albert Einstein was listed as a sponsor of the National Council of American Soviet Friendship, Incorporated.

Page 1531 - Professor Albert Einstein was listed among the names in an advertisement appearing in the "New York Times" of December 22, 1943, page 40 as being affiliated with the Reichstag Fire Trial Anniversary Committee cited as a Communist front.

Page 1604 - Professor Albert Einstein was listed as a sponsor of a dinner celebrating the 25th Anniversary of the Red Army held at the Commodore Hotel in New York City under the auspices of the magazine "Soviet Russia Today", described as a leading propaganda journal for the Soviet Union in the United States.

12 The "Daily Express", London, England on February 12,
13 1950 carried an article under the caption "Einstein Answers
14 Everything; Only Six Men Can Test H-Bomb". This article stated
15 that Einstein's latest theory which attempted, with one formula, 16 to explain everything in the physical universe, was published on 17 that day in fourteen pages.
18

19 According to the article, the theory challenged
20 scientists to make tests either in the heart of the atom or in 21 the movements of the stars to prove or to disprove that it was 22 the key to the riddle of the universe.
23

24 The article continued that Professor Banesh Hoffman,
25 who had worked with Einstein said there was probably only six
26 men in the world qualified to start testing the theory, and that 27 scientists believed there were only one thousand brains in 28 America which would grasp the full meaning of the fourteen pages
29 straight off.
30

31 According to the article, these pages were modestly
32 inserted as "appendix to" in a new edition of Einstein's "The 33 Meaning of Relativity".
34

35 The article stated that Einstein offered the relativity
36 theory in 1915 and that many ordinary brains still had difficulty
37 with that.
38

39 The article further stated that Einstein, at 70, lived
40 at Princeton University as an elder scholar. "On cloistered
41 grounds he strolls with a stocking cap over his silver locks -
42 but without socks."
43

44 "He says: 'I am not a great man. Every man has a brain.
45 With it he does the best he can'".
46

47 Other information concerning Einstein reported in 48 this newspaper appeared in the "Daily Telegraph and Morning
49 Post", London, England on February 13, 1950, which is summarized
50 elsewhere in this summary.

b1, b2, b7D [REDACTED] that the National Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions (ASP) had sponsored a meeting at Carnegie Hall, on June 17, 1948, and that Professor Albert Einstein addressed the meeting over the telephone from his home at Princeton, New Jersey. Einstein declared that "No government can disregard the will of its people. Not even dictatorial governments. How is it possible that our government disregards the will of our people?" Einstein criticized the United States Government for its refusal to accept the suggestion of the USSR for direct negotiations. He emphasized that the refusal of negotiations of the two world's greatest powers was endangering the peace of the world. He concluded that "any new steps to militarization of the country takes us further away from peace."

A Department of the Army Intelligence Report
#R-S-51, dated January 3, 1951, contained a report of a conference held in Bucharest in November 1950, to create an African Bureau of the Cominform. It reported that the most interesting report was presented by Philippe Kibango. In 1928, Kibango was appointed an agent of the Anti-imperialist and Anti-colonial League in Moscow.

A footnote to this article reported that the top leaders of the above-mentioned League were still alive, one of whom was Professor Albert Einstein of Princeton, U.S.A.

The above information was evaluated in this report
as having been received from a frequently unreliable source.

Report received from G-2, Department of the Army through Liaison

In the January 12, 1951, issue of "Counterattack" it was stated that Albert Einstein was no longer a sponsor of the Common Council for American Unity. This Council was conducting a drive to boost to 35 million the number of participants in its "Letters from America" campaign. This group sent letters abroad in the "campaign of truth" to combat Communist propaganda and lies about the U. S. The Communist Party warned its followers of this campaign.

The "Counterattack" is a weekly newsletter published by the American Business Consultants, Inc. of New York City. It bears the printed notation "Facts to Combat Communism."

Counter Attack on February 16, 1951 stated that convicted CP conspirator Benjamin J. Davis had called on all comrades to "rally around Dr. DuBois"; that Davis said that DuBois and his co-workers must be freed and had threatened that their indictment would "boomerang into the hideous faces of Truman, Acheson, Dulles and the rest of the war-crazed despisers of the Negro and other colored people".

Counter Attack stated further that accused "Foreign Agent DuPois would be honored at a hotel banquet; that Dr. DuBois' long record of pro-Communist activities had not deterred approximately 200 people (referred to as 'notables' in Communist Party press) from tendering him a banquet in honor of his 83rd birthday; that the dinner was scheduled to be held at the Essex House in New York City on February 23.

Counter Attack stated further that the "notable" sponsors included Dr. Albert Einstein and others.

This reference consisted of two pieces of mail. The first piece was an unsigned letter, dated February 24, 1951, to Mr. L.A. DuBridge, President, California Institute of Technology, Pasadena 4, California. It bore a typewritten notation that this was a blind copy to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Washington, D.C.

The writer listed the "notable sponsors" of what he called the latest Communist front, the "Peace Information Center", and which he stated had been cited as such by Federal authorities. Albert Einstein was listed as one of the sponsors.

The second piece of correspondence was an outgoing memorandum from the Bureau to the Los Angeles Field Division. This communication stated that there were enclosed photostatic copies of a letter dated February 24, 1951, which was received at the Bureau from [REDACTED] Colorado Springs, Colorado.

The April 5, 1951, issue of the "New York Mirror" carried an article under the caption "List Ferrer, Holliday as Fronts for Reds" which stated that the House Un-American Activities Committee on that day charged that Academy Award winners Jose Ferrer and Judy Holliday had been affiliated with from five to ten Communist front organizations.

According to the article, the Committee made public a long list of names, including more than a score well-known in the field of entertainment, literature and art, which it identified as sponsors of groups which participated in the so-called Communist Peace Offensive. The list of names included in the article contained the name of Scientist Albert Einstein as having belonged to some eleven to twenty front organizations.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] furnished to Bureau Agents a copy of an "open letter" dated 5-15-51 to President Truman from one Darwin J. Meserole.

[REDACTED] attached to this open letter was a list of names which was apparently a list of prospective signers to the open letter. The name of Albert Einstein appeared on this list.

The above mentioned open letter referred to articles which appeared in the New York Times on April 28 and April 29. One of the articles was headed "Truman Sharpens Loyalty Standard-Reasonable Doubt' Be Ground for Denying US Job or Dismissing Anyone". The other article was headed "FBI Set to Seize Fourteen Thousand Reds in War - Hoover Gives Data to House Group - Cash Asked for Four-Camps for Subversives."

This letter stated further that "In other words, the Loyalty Review Board need have no 'reasonable grounds' for believing a person disloyal and thereafter disqualified for federal employment, but need have only a 'reasonable doubt' as to the loyalty of such persons. It seems incredible that the highest official of our government should have issued such an executive order."

The July 8, 1951 issue of "Action", a newspaper published in Paris, France, contained an article entitled "When Jessup was accused of being a Communist." Under the sub-heading of "They Start with the Communists" the article quoted from a statement of Eugene Dennis, Secretary General of the Communist Party, made at the time of his trial, as follows: "For in America today, as in Germany of yesterday, the chasing of the reds does not strike only at the reds; one views with alarm the investigations by Senator McCarthy in Hollywood. Certain members of the famous Activities Committee speak now of prosecuting Professor Einstein or the writer Thomas Mann."
