The SDS reportedly arranged an alliance with the Yippies through Jerry Rubin and Hoffman, to obtain additional physical support for Chicago action and to capitalize upon what SDS regarded as a more favorable public image of the Yippies as contrasted to SDS. Hoffman spoke at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County, Catonsville, urging people to attend the planned Chicago demonstrations and gave instructions on how to make molotov cocktails. which consisted of eight individuals, including Hoffman, who had been indicted in Chicago in March, 1969 for activities during the August 1968 DNC. "The Conspiracy" opened its national headquarters on 4/18/69 in Chicago, as a base of operations for a fund-raising drive for legal defense and for mapping strategy for demonstrations preceding the trial scheduled for September 1969. Hoffman attended the 6/18-23/69 SDS National Convention in Chicago where he reportedly solicited support for his plan to instigate a confrontation with officers of the Chicago PD through distribution of literature of "The Conspiracy" in downtown Chicago in violation of a city ordinance. Hoffman and others engaged in this activity on 6/20/69 and departed the area without incident.

The SDS allegedly believed Hoffman's value to the movement resulted from mass media coverage of all his activities. He reportedly was to speak at SDS demonstrations scheduled for 10/8-11/69 in Chicago.

Houston report dated 4/16/70, furnished the results of an investigation in connection with a case of attempted arson at the Naval ROTC Building, Rice University, Houston, Texas, April 1, 1970 (98-46446). It was determined that the fire possibly resulted from a controversy which developed as the result of an invitation extended by a student group to Abbie Hoffman to speak on campus. Officials at the University ruled that Hoffman was not acceptable as a speaker. On 4/15/70, the Dean of Students advised that his security force on campus had been extremely busy the past week in matters dealing with the appearance of Hoffman on the campus.

This reference in the file captioned "Communist Infiltration of the Motion Picture-Radio-Television Industries" pertains to the extensive coverage and exposure given to Abbie Hoffman and the other defendants in the "Chicago 7" conspiracy trial by the Los Angeles press, radio, and television, from 3/13/70 to 7/5/70. Articles in newspapers publicized Hoffman's book entitled, "Revolution For the Hell of It" and the fact that it would be made into a film, and his second book entitled, "Woodstock Nation" and the profits from it. Hoffman was quoted as saying all the money from his books went to bail, court costs, and support of the anti-war movement. He also claimed that it was embarrassing when "you try to overthrow the government and you end up on the best seller list". Hoffman appeared on the Merv Griffin Show and was blacked out to the television viewers because he wore a shirt made of the American flag. He made statements considered by other guests on the program as anti-American.

Rubin and Hoffman offered the only real leadership on a national basis for the Yippies. They both were "inciters" who tried to create a movement in which people gravitated towards them, but both were moving away from national leadership in the Yippies because they feared jail and felt they were being watched too closely by law enforcement agencies. When Hoffman and Rubin were together they were standoffish towards other people and this made it difficult for people to become interested in joining the Yippies.

Dear Sir:

ABRIE HOFFMAN

I am forwarding this book to you because it seems like a matter for the F.B.I. - This book is circulating among the students of the high school my 15 year old son is attending. (Perhaps you have seen it.)

As a very concerned mother and American citizen, I am wondering what steps the F.B.I. can take to put this Grove Press, N.Y.C. out of business, also Pirate Editions, Broadway, New York. N.Y., N.Y.

There are many names & addresses mentioned also, You may be interested in them. 4

There is one page which states under the picture - "Shoot Richard Nixon." I am shocked and very upset that Communists in this Country are allowed to print & circulate such "rotten" material. It is actually a handbook for teaching the Youth of America to be criminals. There must be a way to stop this. Hoping to hear from you.

Dear [Redacted]

On February 15th I received your letter, with enclosure, and I appreciate your bringing this matter to my attention. With respect to your comments, the FBI has no control over material distributed by publishing houses or other mass media; however, I certainly share your concern.

Enclosed is literature which contains my views regarding those who seek to foment unrest and foster subversive activities.

Sincerely yours,

D. Arrests

1. Federal Indictment, Chicago, Illinois

The November 1, 1971 issue of "Time," a weekly magazine published in New York City, New York, on page 52 contained the following article:

"Mr. and Mrs. William M. Kunstler requested the pleasure of the Chicago Seven's Company at a birthday party in honor of Black Panther Chairman Bobby Seale at their home, West Street, Mamaroneck, N.Y. This highlight of the social season gathered the 'conspirators' together...for the first time since their trial ended early in 1970. Draft beer, chips and pretzels were served, and 35 year old Bobby was presented with a dark blue sweater. After blowing out the seven conspiratorial candles on his chocolate-frosted cake, the birthday boy toasted 'all revolutionaries and political prisoners everywhere.'"

Those who were present at this affair were identified elsewhere on page 52 as JOHN FROINES, ABBIE HOFFMAN, RENNIE DAVIS, lawyer LEONARD WEINGLASS, DAVID DELLINGER, BOBBY SEALE, lawyer WILLIAM KUNSTLER, LOTTE KUNSTLER, JERRY RUBIN, and LEE WEINER.

Regarding the above individuals, all except WEINGLASS and KUNSTLER, were defendants in the so-called Conspiracy Seven trial, Chicago, from September, 1969, to February, 1970, having been indicted earlier by a Federal Grand Jury, Chicago, on charges of violation of the Federal Antiriot Statute as a result of actions involving the Democratic National Convention in August, 1968, in Chicago. WEINGLASS and KUNSTLER served as co-defense counsel at this trial.

HOFFMAN, DAVIS, DELLINGER, RUBIN, and THOMAS HAYDEN (not present at this affair) were found guilty by the trial jury, however, FROINES and WEINER were acquitted.

CONFIDENTIAL

NY 100-161445

SEALE, an original defendant, was severed from the trial in November, 1969, and sentenced by trial Judge JULIUS HOFFMAN to four years incarceration for contempt of court, without bond.

Likewise, at the conclusion of the trial, over the days of February 14-15, 1970, all the other defendants and both attorneys were cited for contempt of court by Judge HOFFMAN as a result of their actions and statements in court during the trial.

All were ordered incarcerated without bond by Judge HOFFMAN, including KUNSTLER and WEINGLASS, although the latter two were granted a stay of incarceration until May 4, 1970.

On February 28, 1970, however, the United States Court of Appeals (USCA), Seventh Circuit, Chicago, ordered all the above, except SEALE, admitted to bond, with the provision that each advise the United States Marshal, Chicago, of all travel outside the state of their residence and secure court permission for any travel outside the continental limits of the United States. (US)

On May 27, 1971, the USCA ordered SEALE admitted to bond on the contempt citations of November, 1969, under the same provisions regarding travel as the others.

The Black Panther Party (BPP) is a black extremist organization started in Oakland, California, in December, 1966. It advocates the use of guns and guerrilla tactics to bring about the overthrow of the United States Government.

2. Anti-Riot Law Violation in Washington, D. C. 672

On November 3, 1971, [REDACTED] Judge J. LEWIS SMITH, United States District Court (USDC) for the District of Columbia, Washington, D. C., advised that on October 18, 1971, an order was filed before the Clerk of the USDC in which Judge SMITH denied a motion of the defense counsel for the subject to dismiss the subject's indictment by the Federal Grand Jury in Washington, D. C. on May 13, 1971, charging the subject with violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 2101, 231(A)(3) (Interstate Travel With Intent To Organize, Promote, Encourage, and Participate in a Riot; Obstructing, Impeding, and Interfering With a Law Enforcement Officer During The Commission of a Civil Disorder).

[REDACTED] that two more defense motions were under advisement by Judge SMITH and that one of these motions involves the allegation that evidence was obtained against the subject by use of illegal wire tapping.

On December 29, 1971, [REDACTED] Supra, advised that Judge J. LEWIS SMITH had ruled on the defense motion involving alleged illegal wire tapping in a ten page order. The opinion of Judge SMITH differentiated between wiretaps used by the government for national security reasons, on the basis of domestic wiretaps and those used on foreign nationals or foreign countries. The judge cited a Sixth Circuit case, U. S. vs. KEITH.

[REDACTED] that on December 8, 1971, Judge SMITH granted a continuance of the subject's case before setting any trial date until the Supreme Court of the United States rules on the case U. S. vs. KEITH, in which case the United States Supreme Court granted a Writ of Certiorari in June, 1971.

IV. PUBLIC APPEARANCES

A. Florida State University,

[REDACTED] that the subject was scheduled to speak at Ruby Diamond Auditorium, Florida State University (FSU), Tallahassee, Florida, on November 4, 1971 at 8:00 p.m. [REDACTED] that the subject's appearance was being sponsored by the FSU Student Government as part of a communications series in which speakers from both the political left and the right are appearing during the school year.

On November 4, 1971, an SA of the FBI attended ABBOTT HOFFMAN's speech at the Ruby Diamond Auditorium, FSU, Tallahassee, Florida. HOFFMAN spoke to approximately 1100 persons, mostly of student age.

HOFFMAN derided the expressed opinions by many so-called members of the movement who look down their noses at what they refer to as "politics," and said that politics is the only way to achieve the goals of the movement. He stated that they must get involved on a local level, but that on a national level it would be best to "let George do it." He feels that the nature of the movement is such that an unified national organization is not possible because each group is doing its own thing which is right in its own way. He urged everyone to avoid coalitions which force radicals to give up too many of their ideals.

HOFFMAN feels that violence is not necessary at this time but does not rule it out as a tactic. He does not regard himself as a pacifist and cautioned against being forced into taking a position against violence. He quoted CHE GUEVARA to the effect that violence is not necessary if the remotest vestige of democracy exists. He stated he thinks most of the American people are hypocritical in that they condemn terrorism and are willing to accept mass murder as long as it is performed from high flying B-52s.

HOFFMAN urged all students to register to vote as a means of gaining control of their community and also in order that they might serve on juries trying radical political prisoners for the purpose of getting them acquitted. He said his dream is to have the next presidential assassin tried by a jury of radicals which he hoped would result in a hung jury.

Concerning drugs, HOFFMAN stated that the only dope worth shooting was the dope in the White House.

Concerning the Weatherman, HOFFMAN agrees with their politics and admires them because nobody can catch them -- not the FBI, Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), or Army Intelligence. He said they are doing what they believe in their "guts" and said the only presidential candidate he would support is BERNARDINE DOHRN.

- 14 -

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

HOFFMAN said that so-called "news" reports are really gossip and are largely inaccurate. To illustrate this point, he cited recent press reports to the effect that he had cut his hair and was dressing in business suits. He said the only suits in his closet were law suits.

Concerning the platform of the Yippies, HOFFMAN stated as follows:

1. The immediate objective is a four day work week, with the ultimate goal being abolition of work. Since nobody wants to work, nobody should have to.
2. The abolition of victimless crimes.
3. No more private ownership of property, that is, the means of production. He said, however, that everyone would be able to keep his phonograph records and sneakers.
4. He called for the end of imperialism which he defined as the control of the United States of the natural resources of other countries.
5. A birth certificate should be a guarantee of adequate food, clothing and shelter.
6. Ecology, which he said goes without saying.
7. Rehabilitation instead of punishment in our prison system.
8. Recognition of the fact that crimes by corporations are far more costly and serious than crimes by individuals because they constitute crimes against the people as a whole rather than against individuals.

HOFFMAN said we have a lot to learn from the mainland Chinese and that they are coming here to teach us. He said that though their foreign policy is not the greatest, they still manage to feed, clothe and house, one quarter of the world's population and so it is not necessary to make any excuses for them.

HOFFMAN said that since NIXON is loading the Supreme Court with conservatives the movement must fight back by serving on juries in lower courts.

HOFFMAN urged everyone to go to San Diego and make the Republicans wish they had held their convention in Hawaii, but peacefully.

HOFFMAN said that President NIXON is currently giving us socialism for the rich and capitalism for the poor.

HOFFMAN devoted approximately half of his lecture to discussing his problems in getting his recent book, "Steal This Book" published. He said he is currently working on another book but declined to elaborate.

Weatherman, formerly a faction of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), controlled the SDS National Office from June, 1969 until its closing in February, 1970. Weatherman then entered an underground status and adopted a tactic of "strategic sabotage," with police and military installations designed as primary targets.

The SDS was founded during June, 1962, at Port Huron, Michigan, and in the 1960's functioned as the leading New Left campus-based student organization in the United States. From a stance of "participatory democracy," the SDS moved to a radical-revolutionary position. It maintained a national office at 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois, until February, 1970. Internal factionalism during 1969 produced three main factions: Weatherman, Revolutionary Youth Movement (RYM), and Worker Student Alliance (WSA). The Weatherman and RYM no longer consider themselves associated with the SDS. The WSA faction continues to use the name SDS.

V. TELEVISION APPEARANCES

A. "Free Time" Program,
New York City
October 21, 1971

The subject appeared as the host of the "Free Time" program aired at 10:30 p.m., October 21, 1971, on National Educational Television, Channel 13, New York City.

During the course of the program, the subject interviewed newspaper columnist JACK ANDERSON, Federal Communication Commissioner NICHOLAS JOHNSON, and "Variety" Television Critic, BILL GREELEY.

Set forth below are excerpts from these interviews:

"Abbie Hoffman:

"Hi! We'll be having some exciting guests, including FCC Commissioner Nicholas Johnson, "Variety" television critic Bill Greeley. We'll have a special guest appearance by one of our true folk heroes Richard Nixon in a clip from his most famous political speech, the Checkers Speech. We'll have music by Buzzy Linhart and we'll have my favorite newspaper columnist, Mr. Jack Anderson, who's up here to join us from Washington to talk about our favorite person, J. Edgar Hoover and some of his friends known as the FBI.

"We have here one of the posters that I got when I was a customer of the FBI a few months ago. You have to imagine this blown up to about five times its size, in a room about five or six times this size and about twenty or thirty typists sitting at the board. And these are the kind of posters....if you want one you can go over to the FBI building, it's located on East 69th Street, and I'm sure they'd love to give you a free poster just like the one I got.

"To know more about the FBI we'll be talking to Jack Anderson as I said. Jack Anderson appears in over 700 newspapers around the country, here in New York you can find

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

"him in the "New York Post" snuggled up next to Harriet Van Horne under the watchful eyes of Mr. Buckley and Mr. Wechler (phonetic), and (unintelligible) of rational thought. He has many avid readers. Ex-Senator Thomas Dodd is an avid reader. The major heads of oil corporations are avid readers. Al Capp is an avid reader. Perhaps the most avid reader of all is John Edgar Hoover, known to us affectionally as J. Edgar. So it's a pleasure to welcome Jack Anderson here to New York and to "Free Time."

"Abbie Hoffman:

"Well, welcome to New York and 'Free Time' Jack. You know one thing that's always intrigued me is every Sunday night I join perhaps 30, 40 million Americans and tuning on the television set and watching a prime time hour propaganda exploitation film done by Warner Brothers with the cooperation and consent of the FBI glorifying our secret police. I commented to some Russians about this about a month ago and they said not even in Russia does the NKVD get an hour prime time. Is this an unusual thing about the American character that we glorify an organization like the FBI?

"Jack Anderson:

"Well, this is the model for the nation. All FBI agents look like Efrem Zimbalist, Jr. and that's why they're able to infiltrate the Mafia because you can't tell them when they're coming you know. They-two FBI agents-short sideburns, clean cut, they're always in disguise. You never know what.... as I say they all look like Efrem Zimbalist, Jr. and uh.....

"Abbie Hoffman:

"How much is the character of the FBI agent in particular and the agency in general molded by the leader of the ship Mr. Hoover?

"Jack Anderson:

"They're all cast in the image that he wants. They all dress alike. They all look alike. They all have to be in bed by 2:00 o'clock. They..uh...if they get involved in

" a shoot out, as one of them did over here at Kennedy International not long ago, they better have their coats on this way-if they take their coats off, as this fella did when he shot the hijacker. Hoover saw the picture in the paper the following morning reprimanded him for taking his coat off.

"And if their sideburns are too long as another of the FBI agents who was tangling with the hijacker at Dulles, his picture also unfortunately for him appeared on the front pages as he was hustling the hijacker off to justice and Hoover noticed that his sideburns were just a little, they were down to the bottom of his ear, transferred to Indianapolis.

"Abbie Hoffman:

"(Unintelligible).....They're not all bad. I should say....I'm kind of helpful in some way, I'm writing this article on how to rob banks for fun and profit and I've had a series of correspondence with the FBI over the past two months and they've been engaged in the bulk of the research. (Unintelligible).....In fact that was how I learned that the J stood for John because J. Edgar Hoover sends me all the reports on how the bank robbery.....it's quite a lucrative field. He does take a personal interest in his correspondence.

"Jack Anderson:

"Well, are you going to share bi-lines with him?

"Abbie Hoffman:

"That's another show.

"I found another document you might be interested in....this is a photostat of the order that the Government went into District Court, Federal Court in Washington justifying the wiretapping of my personal phone. It's signed by Deputy Attorney General Kleinenst (phonetic) and I presume that the FBI has been in wiretapping people who were on trial in Chicago et cetera for a number of years. Do you have any kind of evidence how extensive this wiretapping is,

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

NY 100-161445

"what you have to do to get yourself a letter and authorization from Kleindienst (phonetic)? I'm declared, I think, a national.....

"Jack Anderson:

"It's a very rare privilege.

"Abbie Hoffman:

"I'm declared a national security hazard which is kind of a faulty electrical connection....

"Jack Anderson:

"It's a very rare privilege but not as rare as the FBI would like you to believe. The way it works...they get court orders on less than a hundred themselves, probably less than 50 if I remember my figures correctly and when J. Edgar Hoover appears before Congress and says that he's got taps only on less than 50 phones....bugs in less than a hundred places, he's telling the truth. But the way they work it, they get local law enforcement agencies to do the bugging for them. So, if they want...uh...if they want a room bugged or a telephone tapped so that it won't be counted against them and have a black on them, they'll get the local FBI supervisors usually on good terms with some local law enforcement agency, and they'll get them to do the bugging or the tapping and turn the information over to the FBI. So Hoover can really honestly boast that there are relatively few taps by the FBI.

"Abbie Hoffman:

"He does....it's kind of interesting to visit their place. I was taken on a tour about a month ago and...I had noticed a change in the character in fact.....

"Jack Anderson:

"Was this a voluntary tour?"

"Abbie Hoffman:

"Well, I was persuaded, it was about 2:00 a.m. and I was persuaded in my hall to come and visit there.....the most....the thing that stuck out most in their mind was when we had had a demonstration outside the FBI building, I mean, it's...they really don't care too much about what you do about the rest of the country it's sort of like unit unto themselves and (unintelligible) you know for their own best of interest. Have you noticed a change in them because they were quite rough this time with me, in fact, I had written if you're gonna get arrested you should get arrested by the FBI because they're very nice about it but this time they were quite rough and I thought I had attributed to their inability to catch any of the, you know, young fugitives, young radical fugitives that are on the Ten Most Wanted list and their inability to process people involved in some of the bombings that are going on. Do you feel they're acting differently?

"Abbie Hoffman:

"Maybe I could....this was one of the incidents and of course NBC found out about and this might have been one of the clues as to why John Chancellor wasn't here. About a week ago I gave a speech at Drew University in Madison, New Jersey, at which I made some comments about hip culture being devoid of politics, people turning on and not getting involved in politics and without politics the culture meant crap. And to illustrate the point, I pulled out a switchblade and I carry that around to different speeches and I hacked off a hunk of...a hunk of locks and threw them down on the stage to dramatize the point. And a lot of people got up took photographs as they invariably do and there was an AP story that was at least...that got quite distorted and the story that John Chancellor broadcast on NBC went something like this.

"In Madison, Wisconsin, now it became Wisconsin and not New Jersey, Abbie Hoffman told all young kids to get haircuts. He himself had been to the barber shop and had got a crew cut and they showed the following picture of me. Is it on. It's on, yeah. Now, this is a really interesting

"picture. As you can see the speech was given eight days ago. This picture was taken two years when I was a guest at the Cook County Jail. I was handcuffed and had leg irons on and I was convinced for three hours by four guards that I should have my picture taken. And this was the picture that was taken and used. Now.....

"Nicholas Johnson:

"Abbie you don't know, you can grow hair faster than anybody else, that's the (unintelligible) of your secret.

"Abbie Hoffman:

"But, now CBS, although they had the commentary pretty right, this is the picture that CBS (unintelligible) at CBS used to welcome me back in the fold. Now, the hair is longer, is long is plastered down, it comes from about a year and a half ago when Grace Slick and I tried to sneak in the White House to visit Tricia Nixon. The suit is of course borrowed and they made a big point about this, you know, because now it's wearing suits and ties and sticking my hair down, coming right back within the fold, you know. But, the only suits in my closet are lawsuits at the present time. So you can see who I am, you know, and there are the two pictures that went out and of course the state of the American Empire doesn't rise or fall unfortunately on the length of one's hair not like it was in Biblical times. But...you know, it is show quite dramatically a kind of distortion for a minor event, of course after that I was gonna show John Chancellor (unintelligible) scope of his reporting the throat cuttings at Attica. Now, I think that more than anything, this year that I can think, of, was an un.....just an incredible piece of reporting. I've met no one who did not believe the story entirely. I mean once, once Walter says it's true and Howard agrees and John even agrees, once chocolate and vanilla and strawberry say it's true, it's true. How did...did you feel angry after you found out that there weren't any throats cut? Did you Bill? How did, how did react to that? How did you react when you know that the news has been you've been wise to? (unintelligible)?

"Bill Greeley:

"No, I...I felt really sorry for the reporters, you know, the guys that were...because those, those...especially the TV guys are, you know, they're under great pressure to... to turn it out and turn it out fast and that's what they were told and that's what they had to go with. It's a very difficult situation for them to, to....always remember there was a (unintelligible) pressman and...(unintelligible) in the hospital with a guy with his throat bandaged up and talking in a hush and telling about the things and it's....that's a case, I think, where they, where they were duped and I can, I can understand how they were. But uh....I....where's the, where's the, where's the full big extended show interpreted on Attica? What happened there, we'd seen that?"

VI. WRITINGS

The "Seed," an underground newspaper published in Chicago, Illinois, in its August 13, 1971 issue on Page 4 contained a letter written by the subject entitled "High!" which stated as follows:

"We're all excited that you're serializing STEAL THIS BOOK and I'm rushing you under separate cover the newest edition with a few changes. I've always loved the Seed, can you put me on subscription or save our little baby 'America' so he'll be brought up right from the beginning. I enjoyed your added comments. I only saw the food (first) chapter, so be sure & send the rest. We are hoping to do more books this way through Pirate Editions. One thing, can you mention at the end of each article that they can get the whole book by writing to Pirate Editions, 640 Broadway, N.Y., N.Y. 10012 and enclosing $2.20 (includes postage). I think that's a fair request. We are working on a sequel called 'STEAL THIS BOOK TOO' with a lot more new info and expect to have it out next spring. Also we are trying to get together a 'RIP-OFF INSTITUTE' with real experts in these areas. We are looking for a mid-west campus that will host a 'Hustler's Convention' with experts on draft evasion, safe-cracking, shoplifting, dope dealing, etc. giving workshops, we hope to have Willie Sutton give the key note address. Any Chicago pros would be welcome to get in touch right away for their honorarium...they

If all goes right, we'll hold it this November. See you soon. There will always be a warm spot in my heart for Chicago--actually more than a warm-spot--sort of a heart burn."

The "Lewiston Sun", a Lewiston, Maine newspaper, in its issue of April 28, 1972, contained an article entitled "Abbie Hoffman Discussed His Trial at Bates", which stated in part as follows regarding an appearance by the subject at Bates College, Lewiston, Maine, on April 28, 1972.

"When asked if he considered himself a radical, Abbie Hoffman commented: 'Having a radical attitude today means being optimistic and in that sense I do'.

"The controversial leader of the Youth International Party and one of the members of the 'Chicago Seven' spoke Thursday night at the Bates College gym following the showing of 'On Trial' a two and one-half hour film on the trial of the seven defendants on charges of crossing state lines to incite a riot.

"Dressed casually, in brown corduroy pants and a white short-sleeve shirt speckled with flowers (he said the shirt was part of his preparation for going to Miami, and the 1972 Democratic Convention), Hoffman conversed easily with the large crowd on a number of subjects.

"On the film, Hoffman commented that: 'None of the defendants that I've talked with are happy with how they were portrayed, yet we think the film is great and we are happy with it'. Hoffman said that his role in the movie is played by Cliff Gorman, who recently won a Tony award for his theatrical role in the Broadway play 'Lenny'.

"Commenting that he found it difficult to speak about the film after viewing it, he said. 'It's after you've become an agnostic'.

"Concerning the trial Hoffman said, 'It's my general kind of impression that the law is so weird...so metaphysical. We, were tried for crossing state lines and having a state of mind...not for having guns or taking little kids or any of the usual kind of thing'.

"The decision is currently on appeal and we expect that it will be thrown out and the case retried,' Hoffman said, regarding the possible 10-year prison sentence he and his fellow defendants are presently appealing.

"Hoffman said he felt 'incredible history will be made this summer in Miami' and said he could go along with the 'support for George Mc Govern for president'. This statement was met with great applause.

"A move from the politics of the street towards electoral process and local control is seen as the trend of radical politics by former Yippie Leader Abbie Hoffman, in an interview recently.

"Hoffman, long one of the most visible figures on the American radical scene, has been living quietly in St. Thomas for about six months. He said he had come here to have more time with his wife and their eight-months old child and to work on two books. One book, 'Dear Abbey' is a collection of letters to Hoffman, and the other 'The Book of the Month Club Selection,' will be a collection of views of American society, politics, the mood of the campuses and assorted subjects, including impressions of the Joe Frazier-Mohammed Ali fight. 'I think most people are going to be surprised by my book,' said Hoffman, 'It's mellow and reconciliatory.'

"He expanded on his ideas of political trends in describing a 'liberated zone' concept of local control by radicals. Recalling that radicals had been elected to office in some college communities, such as Berkely, he said that,

"while demonstrations would still play a part in reinforcing awareness of issues, more traditional methods can help coalitions of students, the poor and other minorities to achieve power on a local level.

"Hoffman expanded his discussion of politics to speculate on the coming election. Saying that he may go to the Democratic convention with Congresswoman Shirley Chisolm, he expressed a belief in a strong possibility of Edward Kennedy ending up as the Democratic candidate. 'He's running a great campaign,' said Hoffman, 'he's making no mistakes and letting the others fight it out in the primaries.'

"Hoffman went on to say that he thought that if Hubert Humphrey or Edmund Muskie get the nomination, there is a strong possibility of a third party emerging. Hoffman also said that there will be demonstrations at the national conventions, especially the Republican convention. He said there are currently several organizers in San Diego planning demonstrations.

"Hoffman, who said he has more than 30 speeches scheduled in the next few months, noted a change in the mood of American campuses. 'They are more cynical, more disillusioned now,' he said, 'this is behind a lot of the interest in mysticism and the heroin problem.'

"He also discussed narcotics and mentioned that he had recommended the shaving of heroin pusher's heads as a form of vigilante action. However, he predicted that legalization of marijuana would come in five to ten years. 'The current laws have made outlaws of 28,000,000 people, according to the Nixon commission's report,' he said, referring to the recent estimate of marijuana use by the Presidential Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse.

"Hoffman reiterated a recent statement that the Mar y Sol pop festival in Puerto Rico was an insult to the island. He said that he had talked to the festival's promoters in an attempt to find out what kind of arrangements they had made for sanitation, medical care and other facilities. He applauded recent laws on the mainland which enable authorities to prosecute unscrupulous festival promoters. 'When you get several thousands people who have paid from $15 to $20 a piece for tickets and there's no music and no facilities, it's fraud. All festivals have been an attempt to recapture the "spirit of Woodstock."

"Hoffman, while saying he had enjoyed his stay in St. Thomas, had a few insights to give into the life of a notorious enemy of the establishment. He claimed that Federal agents had visited his house several times looking for fugitives and had kept him under surveillance. He said that when follow Chicago Seven defendant Jerry Rubin visited him recently, Federal and local authorities were "all over the place" when he met Rubin at the airport. Public Safety Commissioner Eldridge Waith denied knowledge of this, however.

"Revealing another side of his character, he said that one reason for putting aside his public side and retiring to seclusion here was to spend more time with his child, Amerika. Hoffman, who holds a master's degree in psychology, said that he greatly enjoyed participating in the raising of the child to a greater degree than most fathers do. 'I wish I had the patience to do the research for a post-Spock book on this,' he said.

"Hoffman had some unflattering remarks to make about St. Thomas. 'It's a sick place,' he charged, 'I believe any place which depends on tourists and serving other people develops a kind of neurotic character. That and the fact that it is actually a colony make it unhealthy.' He also stated that he thought the women's liberation movement was more needed here than on the mainland.

"Walking through town, Hoffman paused at a bookstore and looked in. 'They don't sell my last book here,' he said, referring to 'Steal This Book,' a work that was turned down by 30 publishers, in large part because of the title. Before leaving to meet his wife, he paused on the sidewalk to offer one final observation on the winds of change that he has, in large part, been responsible for, 'I talked to some North Vietnamese in Paris and they pointed out one thing. Our generation prevented the United States, the most powerful nation in the world, from defeating, in war, a basically primitive society. I think that indicates that we can exercise power.'"

ABBOTT HOWARD HOFFMAN

[REDACTED] stated on May 15, 1972, that on the evening of May 9, 1972, at 9:00 P.M., Abbie Howard Hoffman, one of the "Chicago 7" convicted for anti-riot law violations, gave a speech at Somsen Hall, at Winona State College.

Prior to Hoffman's speech, a two and a half hour movie was shown to the crowd, entitled, "Chicago 7". In his speech, Hoffman stated that the last hope of the American electorate is "McGovern", and that he and other members of the Chicago 7 would be in Miami for the Democratic convention. He continued that the oncoming election was to be a crucial and determining factor in whether or not the United States would go "left" or "right" in the next decade.

It was noted that Hoffman appeared tired, and several times while speaking, he lost his train of thought after a short burst of applause, and gave the appearance of being slightly "confused".

At the end of his speech, he also commented that in his opinion the appeal of his conviction in federal court in Chicago seemed to have little hope of success.

May 12, 1972

An anti-war rally took place on-campus at the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Florida, May 12, 1972. ABBIE HOFFMAN, JERRY RUBIN and STU ALBERT participated. Actress CANDICE BERGEN and actor DONALD SUTHERLAND also addressed the gathering. A minor altercation with unsympathetic Cuban students occurred. During the program, a small amount of pepper gas was released. No other incidents occurred. No arrests were made.

Following the rally, RUBIN asked for help with his plans for the national political conventions. About 300 expressed a desire to assist. Reportedly, they contributed a total of $400.00 to RUBIN.

JERRY RUBIN, ABBIE HOFFMAN and STU ALBERT met with the Chief of Police at the Miami Beach Police headquarters. During the meeting, they stated it was their desire that the conventions be peaceful. They requested the use of the Bayshore Golf Course as a camping site during the time of the conventions when they will stage a ten-day festival from July 4 through the 14th. They were advised that decision would have to be made by the Miami Beach City manager. RUBIN requested a meeting with the city manager for May 23, 1972. All stated they hoped no attempt would be made to infiltrate their organization. They advised that they represented the Youth International Party.

Following the meeting, RUBIN and ALBERT held a press conference in front of the Miami Beach Police Department headquarters. They had alerted the local press to their meeting with the Chief of Police.

HOFFMAN did not participate in the press conference since he was leaving Miami on a noon flight. RUBIN and ALBERT stated they were leaving Miami later that day.
